

European Days of the Energy Transition -Bordeaux

Conference DATA4ACTION: the Observatories for Energy and GHG, a strong support to the Covenant of Mayors for Climate and Energy

BACKGROUND

Regional and local public authorities design, implement and monitor Sustainable Energy and Climate Action Plans (SECAPs). The Covenant of Mayors initiative provides support at each stage of this process. However, the success of these tasks as well as the improvement of the SECAPs can be guaranteed only through the availability of energy and GHG data. Ensuring the regular exchange of data between the stakeholders of the energy transition is the challenge at hand. The Conference will propose:

- A discussion between energy data providers on how to develop more advanced data collaboration models between municipalities / regions and data providers.
- A showcasing of structured data exchanges and of examples on how this data is used for the development and monitoring of sustainable Energy and Climate action plans.

PROGRAMME – THURSDAY 26TH OF JANUARY

Moderator:
Catrin Maby

Decentralised energy systems: what solidarity between public authorities?
The Energy Union proposes to the 28 EU Member States to reinforce the cross-border interconnection. The French Law on Energy Transition sets a new distribution of competencies between the different levels of governance. The technological breakthroughs in this sector have changed the industrial designs. What links are there between these changes, these interconnections and multi-level governance? What can be the priorities for the next 5 years in order to consolidate this transition?
